Superintendent's Message

The Class of 2013 will always hold a special place in my heart, as these students were my first Plainview-Old Bethpage graduating class. On behalf of the Board of Education, administration, faculty and staff, I extend my sincere congratulations to the 403 impressive young men and women who are leaving us. They have made significant achievements on their pathway to what I believe will be distinguished post-graduate experiences. Graduates, you have had an outstanding impact on your community and your district. There is no doubt that you are prepared to handle the next leg of your academic journey and will return to us with astounding stories of accomplishments. The overall character and energy I have seen demonstrated here at Plainview-Old Bethpage makes me ever so proud to be your superintendent, and I know that it delights your parents and teachers as well.

Before the graduation ceremony, I had the opportunity to speak with many of your current and former teachers. Several of them mentioned the countless demonstrations of strength of character coming from the Class of 2013 over the years. You were a class that put your heart and soul into every task you pursued. Whether helping a classmate or a neighbor in need, you have shown that you have the compassion and fortitude that will carry you through your transition to adulthood.

This year we established the theme Moving Forward Together, and it has truly resonated within the halls of each building. We have seen our students win national academic competitions, curate their own museums, produce award winning magazines and newspapers, perform plays that rival Broadway productions and receive acknowledgement for their performances in athletics and the arts. Our POBOTS, Moot Court and DECA clubs have put POB on the map for their stellar performances, meeting and exceeding all expectations made at the beginning of the school year. It is my hope that both the graduates and continuing students will carry this tradition with them as they move into their bright futures.

I would like to thank our wonderfully supportive parents, as well as our community members for their continued support of our schools. With this level of support, the future of the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District is guaranteed to successfully prepare students for their 21st century world challenges.

I hope that everyone has a restful and enjoyable vacation. I look forward to working with you on the challenges and opportunities ahead for the coming school year. Our collective efforts will yield bountiful rewards for our students and community.

Sincerely,

Dr. Lorna R. Lewis

At the Head of the Class

Valedictorian Adrian Kim

Adrian Kim is the valedictorian of Plainview-Old Bethpage JFK High School's Class of 2013. With a weighted GPA of 101.751, Adrian distinguished herself in all of her academic and extracurricular pursuits. She was the Co-President of the National Honor Society and the Art Club, and she is already a published microbiologist.

Her skill in academia was perhaps matched only by her talent in art; she was the recipient of the prestigious Long Island Scholar-Artist award. With a curious and active mind befitting an artist, Adrian plans to continue her education in the research field, specializing in the study of disease, virology and bacteriology. She will be attending the University of Michigan in the fall.

Salutatorian Chelsea Giller

With a weighted GPA of 101.710, Chelsea Giller is the Class of 2013 salutatorian for Plainview-Old Bethpage JFK High School. A resolute and hardworking student, Chelsea excelled in both academic and athletic pursuits. She held leadership positions in the National Honor Society and the French, Science and Art Honor Societies. Chelsea was constantly pushing herself; she took the highest courses available to her every year of high school. Her determination extended beyond the classroom and onto the tennis court, where she was an important member of the varsity tennis team. Chelsea will attend the University of Pennsylvania in the fall, where she plans to major in engineering.

What's Happening in Our Schools

K-Center Students Read Classic Children's Books

Dr. Seuss, Mo Williams and Doreen Cronin are some of the most beloved children's writers, and the children at the Kindergarten Center had the opportunity to study them throughout the year. Under the direction of K-Center librarian Carolyn Pedersen, children learned about Dr. Seuss' biography, worked with the SMART Board to learn rhyming words, and designed their own hats based on The Cat in the Hat. Classes also created their own books starring Mo Williams' famous character Pigeon, and read various Doreen Cronin books while discussing the differences between fiction and nonfiction literature. The lesson was a fun way to incorporate ELA Common Core Standards, all the while giving children exposure to great writers.

Student Writing Celebrated at Old Bethpage

As students move from the early grades through high school, their writing skills will become increasingly important.

Old Bethpage Elementary School teachers work hard to instill appreciation for good writing as children develop their skills.

Therefore, it is essential to teach an aptitude and respect for writing at a young age. Old Bethpage recently celebrated its student writers by hosting a literary event in the school's library. Students read aloud their own articles to an audience of parents and teachers. This memorable occasion reinforced important topics, including the habits of selecting an idea, drafting and revision, working with peers, and celebrating the written word. The children read one student's work, titled TEAriffic, while they hosted a tea. Some third grade classes shared their personal stories in a collective work titled Our Narratives Have Taken Flight. Second graders reviewed different genres, including published poetry, letters and nonfiction pieces, and first grade students worked on creating characters in their fictional stories. Congratulations to these student writers for working hard to develop their skills and having the courage to share their work.

Parkway Students Learn About Whales and Sharks

Whales and sharks are two majestic animals that have fascinated children and adults for decades. Second graders at Parkway Elementary School had the opportunity to learn more about these animals in a collaborative project with their teacher Ms. Wilgard and librarian Ms. Dennis. The students' assignment was to compare the characteristics of each animal and discover whether they were alike or different. Independently, each child researched either a shark or a whale, wrote a paper and created a web to show facts about the animals. After their research was completed, the students came back together to compare their findings. The lesson was a fun way for students to learn more about the captivating animals, while also practicing the important research skills they will put to use as they move up in their education.

Pasadena Students Battle the Common Cold

Scientists may not have yet found a cure for the common cold, but students at Pasadena Elementary School are doing their part to keep it from spreading. For the second straight year, Hofstra Medical School students visited Pasadena second graders to teach them the importance of washing hands and good hygiene. The medical students gave a SMART Board presentation on germs and where they hide out. They used a special lotion and a flashlight to show the children the germs on their own hands — a display that no doubt reinforced the need to wash hands thoroughly. The lecture ended with a detailed account of how surgeons scrub up for surgery. Thank you to the Hofstra Medical students for their informative presentation.

Annual Beautification Day Continues at Stratford Road

On June 4, students and staff at Stratford Road Elementary School gathered for the school's 5th Annual Beautification Day. Students in every grade created projects to dedicate to the school as a way to honor their time at Stratford Road. First graders each painted a rock and added it to the Stratford Road rock garden, and second and third graders planted annuals in the flower beds under the cherry trees in the courtyard. Fourth graders continued the tradition of painting and signing stepping stones and adding them to the rock garden. These stones symbolize the students stepping from elementary school to middle school. The supplies for Beautification Day, including four new picnic tables on which the artwork was created, were provided by a grant organized by Faye Look Nathan. Many parents of current and former Stratford Road students provided generous assistance. Special thanks to Howie Slotnick, father of Jessica, and Mike O'Connor, father of former Stratford students Nicholas and Alexa, for their contributions to this wonderful event.

A Heroic Speaker Visits Mattlin

For three years, Mattlin Middle School has partnered with the Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center of Nassau County. Through this partnership, Mattlin students met an extraordinary woman last month. Holocaust survivor Annie Blieberg caused silence in the middle school auditorium with powerful stories about her astonishing life experiences. Ms. Blieberg, now in her 90s, was a teenager when Nazis took her from her home in Germany, separated her from her family and put her in a cattle train for transfer to a concentration camp. She escaped through a slit in the roof of the train and leapt from the train car, fleeing into the woods. There, she happened upon another escapee, and the two banded together to look for shelter and food. Ms. Blieberg eventually reunited with her father, but was soon recaptured and taken to Auschwitz, where she was branded with a triangle tattoo. Her fluency in several languages made her valuable to her captors, sparing her life. Ms. Blieberg's story riveted the attention of every student and adult in the room. In talking about her personal experiences, she helped the students make connections to their own lives, emphasizing the importance of respect for self and others.

Personal Best Awards Distributed at POBMS

On May 8, Plainview-Old Bethpage Middle School held its Personal Best Awards ceremony. Earlier in the spring, every faculty member in the building had nominated a student deserving of a Personal Best Award. Over 70 students were individually recognized for improvement in their overall academic performance. These students exemplified a strong work ethic and a commitment to learning. Parents and other relatives of the winners were invited to attend a breakfast at which the awards were distributed. Congratulations to all of the POBMS students who achieved this distinction, and many thanks to fifth grade teacher Ms. Schroeder and guidance counselor Ms. Petrsoric for organizing the breakfast.

September 11th Memorial Garden at POBJFKHS Closer to Completion

Thanks to the dedication of several Plainview-Old Bethpage JFK High School students, our District will now have its own 9/11 memorial garden right on the high school grounds. For over two years, our high school's special needs students, with the help of members of the student government, teachers and advisors, have been establishing a garden behind the school. Last month, they planted the seedlings, marking a huge step forward in the completion of this beautiful garden. "It is truly wonderful to see these kids working toward such a fantastic goal," said Assistant Principal Sharon Lasher. "This beautiful, peaceful garden will enhance our school community and provide a place for reflection."

Music News

POBJFKHS Orchestra Students Entertain Local Senior Citizens

Last month, the musicians of the Plainview-Old Bethpage JFK High School orchestra put their considerable talents to good use by giving back to the community. Led by Orchestra Director Glenn Rubin, the students performed for our Senior Citizens Club at the annual Orchestra Tea. The musicians entertained the enthusiastic crowd by playing a variety of solo and chamber selections. The performance culminated with an outstanding piece by the high school's chamber orchestra.

Community outreach is an integral part of the student experience. Thank you to Mr. Rubin for organizing the event, and to our student musicians for their hard work and excellent performance.

Farewell to Our Retirees!

Our District greatly appreciates the hard work and devotion this year's retirees have shown to our students and community. We thank each of them for their dedication to student success, and we wish them all the best in the future.
